

WALSH AVIATES FOR TUBERCLECIDIE LAST TIME IN U.S. GOVERNMENT

Bird Man Takes Three Passengers Up With Him, and Makes Record Flight Over Albuquerque This Morning.

Aviator Charles F. Walsh made a record flight this morning, when he rose from a point on the mesa near Jones' ranch and returned to Traction park, a distance of ten and a half miles in 100 less than ten minutes.

Mr. Walsh had no difficulty in making the flight, and rose from the smooth surface of the mesa easily, landing at the park with the finished grace to which Albuquerqueans have become accustomed from his former flights.

He took as passengers in different flights this morning one of his mechanics, Joe McNamee, and Roy Stamm. Joe says that he went up so high that the road through the canyon looked like a narrow white strip, so high that when he came down he was deaf for several minutes until his ear again became accustomed to the greater air pressure of the lower altitude. He describes the sensation as being "Great, just like flying." He declared that he would not have missed the flight for a great deal.

Mr. Stamm expressed himself as greatly pleased with the flight. The mechanician just smiled.

Aviator Walsh said this morning that he had learned to like Albuquerque and the people who live here and that he would always come back here with a very kind feeling for all New Mexicans. He said he was glad the people had liked his flights, and that he hoped to fly here again.

The Walshes and their two little children, together with the airplane and the mechanics leave soon for Houston, where Mr. Walsh will fly Friday and Saturday.

TO HOPELESS TICKET IS NOMINATED IN SANTA FE COUNTY

"Gillie" Otero and Sam Cartwright Only Two Willing Victims; Others Had to Be Roped and Branded.

(Special Telegram to Evening Herald)

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 15.—The joint Democratic-Progressive county ticket put in the field here Saturday evening is the climax to a composite maceo the attempt to capture Santa Fe county for the Democracy.

The ticket is a weak one and except for the two legislative offices were gobbled up by Miguel A. Orozco, who resigned his job as territorial treasurer to make the race and John G. Cartwright, the two so-called politicians liberally had to go out and hunt for men to take the places on the ticket.

By actual count, there were just 21 present at the progressive column's convention and this count included the spectators also.

In the Democratic convention held at the court house there were present 34 by actual count, including 14 spectators who were asked to leave. Governor Thornton was the presiding officer in the Democratic and he made a long oration talk in which he neglected to point with pride to his remarkable administration and the deficit of $12,000 it left.

Dr. J. A. Moore held the gavel for the progressives. The most amusing part of the entire affair was when the Democratic convention resolved that no better go into executive session.

The chairman kindly but firmly requested the spectators to go and longer than ever before. Then a few minutes later Governor Thornton appeared at the door and solemnly declared that there was a "spy" in the meeting. It was apparent that the Democrats had some dark deep plot and no "spy" was to be permitted to thwart the thrilling scene. A short time thereafter, a young man from Roswell, who had been a Democrat for but a few months but who was doing his best to help along the progressive movement emerged through the door and wandered sadly on his way. It is supposed he was the "spy." At all events he left the convention with more speed than grace.

This is the ticket put in the field by the twin forces for Santa Fe county: Senator M. A. Orozco, Santa Fe Progressive House; S. G. Cartwright, Santa Fe Progressive House; J. S. Canfield, Santa Fe, Democrat; Floating member of house, J. Asencion Hael, Santa Fe, Democrat; Sheriff Alfredo Villegas, Santa Fe, Democrat; County commissioners: J. L. Sellman, Santa Fe, Democrat; Samuel Romero Nambe, Democrat; Apolonia Hael Chama, Democrat; Collector Montoya, Santa Fe, Democrat. Sur-

Chicken Pot Pie

The Chef's Favorite

By Mrs. Janet McNamee Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Some folks think that only "colored minnows" can eat chicken, but a trial of this famous chicken pot pie disproves that assertion. Every member of the family will thoroughly enjoy it.

R. C. CHICKEN POT PIE, BAKED DUMPLINGS

One food cut in joints: ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoonful salt, black pepper, 1 cup fat, 3 level tablespoons R. C. Baking Powder, ½ teaspoonful salt, ½ cup chardonnay milk or cream.

Cover the fowl with boiling water and simmer until tender, then remove the skin and black pepper with cold water to a small paste and use to thicken the broth. Remove the fat from the top of the broth if necessary before adding the thickening. Pour this gravy over the fowl, until it is nearly covered, and then serve the rest to serve apart. Soften the flour, baking powder and salt, three times, mix this with the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough less stiff than for biscuits. Put this in spoonfuls over the fowl in the dish, which it should rest upon and completely cover. Let bake about 35 minutes.

When young turkeys chickens are served, this may be used satisfactorily as a serving dish.

Veal or lamb prepared in this manner is more appetizing when served as a main course and the whole dish is reduced to a R. C. CHICKEN POT PIE, while it is served free by sending the enclosed information packed in the box or can to R. C. Baking Powder Co., Chicago.
